Questions on “The Commitment”

1. What is your personal definition of Commitment?

________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________

2. How do you see yourself putting your own needs on hold while preparing for the arrival of the baby you are/will be committed to?

________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________

3. What are some adjustments that you could make to more fully prepare yourself for commitment?

________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________

4. How do you think that you could continue that commitment in the years to come?

________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________